Care after Breast Cancer

Thank you to everyone who has contacted me about Care after Breast Cancer.

Care after breast cancer shouldn't end with treatment. The need for women to receive support after finishing hospital treatment continues but too many women do not receive the professional support that is required to manage the long-term effects of the disease.

Cancer treatment can have a life-changing impact on physical and emotional wellbeing. There is much more that needs to be done to ensure that the almost 700,000 women living with breast cancer in the UK can access tailored support to meet their needs. Reflecting these concerns I have raised this issue with the Government in a Parliamentary Question to the Health Secretary. You can keep track of all my contributions in Parliament here.

Thanks again for everyone who has contacted me about this issue.

Best wishes,
