School funding

Thank you to everyone who has contacted me about school cuts.

Government cuts to education are stretching our schools to the limit and have resulted in fewer teachers and larger class sizes. Despite this pressure teachers, teaching assistants and support staff in our schools continue to work tirelessly to offer the best quality of education to local children with less and less resources to do so.

I have been campaigning on this issue over recent years and have been out regularly speaking with local parents and teachers. I have collected hundreds of signatures from local parents petitioning against the Conservative cuts to school budgets and demanding that Birmingham receives a fairer funding deal. I remain committed to campaigning to increase funding for our schools and to protect schools from the impact of austerity. I will continue to do all I can to help support schools to receive the financial support they need and deserve.

Thanks to everyone who has contacted me about cuts to school funding

Best wishes,
